Dear Winston Pro Fan:

Welcome to the Delaware State Fairgrounds for the 1981 "Pabst AMA Classic, at the Harrington Half Mile.

We were proud to be selected by the American Motorcycle Association as one of the motor sport promoters to receive a sanction for the 1981 AMA Professional Series Races. JM Productions has produced many AMA regional race events over the years and takes pride in its reputation of top rider competition at race facilities second to none. Our continued dedication to this program of excellence will be our goal here at Harrington for you.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support of all motor sport activities produced by our company, and on behalf of our entire staff and the officers and directors of the Delaware State Fair, we hope you enjoy this exciting race program here at Harrington.

Yours in racing,

President
J.M. Productions Inc.

WARNING — SPECTATORS — PATRONS AND CONTESTANTS

All types of racing presented at Harrington are thrilling and spectacular — and can be dangerous. We have taken every possible precaution for your safety, comfort and enjoyment of these races. You are requested to abide by all rules for the safety of yourself and others. The management assumes no liability for injuries to the body or property arising from an accident occurring during these races. You attend these at your own risk.

Please abide by all safety regulations of the track, and have a good time!

Signed

Rider Profiles

TED BOODY, #12

Lansing, Michigan
Born August 11, 1958

A former Harley-Davidson factory rider and one-time runner-up in the Winston Pro Series standings, Ted Boody continues his attempts to put together the comprehensive racing equipment stable he hopes will again make him fully competitive on dirt and pavement. "Bood" saw his efforts interrupted in 1979 when he suffered a bad crash in a road race at Loudon, New Hampshire, but he came back in 1980 to score a 14th-place overall finish in the Winston standings. Boody's continued improvement in road racing is a tribute to his determination to return to the top echelon of Winston racing, and his dirt track skills remain unquestioned, though his equipment of late has not always been the fastest. Boody's last victory in Winston Pro Series racing was in the 1979 opener in the Houston Astrodome. He'll be out to increase his career win total of four during the 1981 campaign.

WES COOLEY, #34

Santa Ana, California
Born June 28, 1956

Though he has been road racing for a long while, working his way toward the top, Wes Cooley's major successes have come in the last couple of years. Runner-up in AMA Novice road racing in 1973, Cooley focused his attention on west coast clubman events for several years before taking a serious crack at the big time. His emergence as a road racer began in 1978. He scored Superbike wins at Laguna Seca and Pocono and got his first international endurance racing exposure, and in '79 he came back to win the AMA Superbike championship. A former University of California medical student who plans to continue his education after retirement, Cooley appears to have found a home in Superbike racing. In 1980, riding the potent Yoshimura Suzuki, he repeated his Superbike title and expanded his success on the international endurance scene. Cooley also claimed a first-ever Winston Pro Series win last year, taking the Formula One class checkers at Road America in Wisconsin to become the first four-stroke rider to win an AMA National road race since 1972.

STEVE EKLUND, #8

San Jose, California
Born June 20, 1955

Rarely has a Grand National Champion been plagued with more problems during his reign as Number One than was Steve Eklund in 1980. In 1979, the assault that eventually brought Eklund the championship opened with eighth and second-place finishes and the point lead as a result of the season-opening double-header at the Houston Astrodome. Steve returned to Houston carrying the Number One plate in 1980 . . . and failed to make either main event! Nor did things improve very rapidly. The first privately-backed racer to win the crown since 1963, Eklund's sponsorship program could have used more funding in 1980. Add a few mechanical failures and an incredible string of bad luck and "Super Steve" was outside the top 10 for most of the campaign. Only a strong finish salvaged his place in a three-way tie for eighth in the final standings. Rookie-of-the-Year in 1976 and ranked in the top five every year of his pro career, Eklund is a good bet to bounce back from last year's misfortune, perhaps to contend for a second title in 1981.

MICKEY FAY, #59

Puyallup, Washington
Born June 2, 1959

Mickey Fay's place in motorcycle racing history was assured in the 1979 season's opener at the Houston Astrodome. Chosen to debut the factory Honda dirt track effort, Fay swept to a surprise win in the Houston TT and upheld the honor of the host of TT specialists who hail from the Pacific Northwest. Of course, for those who had followed his career closely, Fay's success came as no surprise. He had led the '78 race at Houston, and he put the nation's best riders behind him for 23 of 25 laps at the '78 Castle Rock TT National . . . then his bike went sour. In 1980, Fay joined rookie Jeff Haney in a development program designed to make Honda a competitive force on the oval tracks. Using 500cc machines against the 750's, neither rider enjoyed big track success, but Fay scored enough short track and TT points to claim a top-20 spot for the second year in a row.

RANDY GOSS, #1

Highland, Michigan
Born January 12, 1956

Four years of hard work paid off in 1980 as Randy Goss claimed the Winston Pro Series championship by a single point in the last race of the season. Though he won only one race, the September San Jose mile, the Harley-Davidson factory rider scored in 19 of the 20 dirt track events he ran, and that extended his two-season consistency record to 42 point-paying finishes in 43 starts. A former pro motocross racer who moved into the dirt track ranks in the mid-70's, Goss enjoyed the tutelage of three-time Grand National Champion Bart Markel during his early Expert years, when he paid his dues and struggled to 15th and 14th-place Winston finishes. He emerged in 1979, winning three Nationals and finishing a close third in the standings, good enough to earn him the factory ride in 1980. A comparatively slow first half last year was a result of the inevitable adjustment to a new program, then a series of strong finishes during the late-summer dirt track campaign put Goss in position to wrap up the title in the dramatic series finale. His contract has been renewed for a title defense in 1980.

RICKY GRAHAM, #41

Pacific Grove, California
Born December 26, 1958

A flamboyant and steadily improving dirt tracker from the northern California region that has produced six National Champions, Ricky Graham hears with increasing frequency the prediction that he has the makings of a future Number One. Virtually invisible in 1978 during his rookie season, Graham emerged in '79 with 10 main event performances, including one runner-up finish. He earned a 13th-place ranking and support from Klotz and Wiseco for the 1980 season, which saw that improvement accelerate. Ricky finally won a National in August, claiming the second half of the Indianapolis mile doubleheader, and he added a second career win at Tulsa in September. In the thick of a three-way battle for the championship, Graham fell victim to his own enthusiasm and hard-charging style as untimely crashes left him third in the final standings. Nonetheless, notice was clearly served that Ricky Graham is a force to be reckoned with, and he'll mount his 1981 assault on a stable of Ron Wood-sponsored machines.

RONNIE JONES, #16
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma
Born October 29, 1960

The 1980 campaign was a mixture of joy and heartbreak for Oklahoma's Ronnie Jones, who struggled in the shadow of Scott Parker during the pair's rookie season in '79, then emerged as a two-time National winner in 1980. Throughout his career, Jones was shadowed by his younger brother David, who raced Ron's hand-me-down bikes and achieved rookie Expert status in 1980. Ronnie won the Houston short track during the opening weekend of the 1980 campaign, but tragedy struck at mid-season when David was killed in a crash at Louisville, Kentucky. In an emotional return to action at the Santa Fe TT six weeks later, Jones ran away from the field to claim his second National win of the season. "That one was for David," he said as he was joined by his mother in an emotional victory circle celebration. Still searching for the key to success on a big bike, Jones' future will likely depend on developing a good sponsorship program.

ALEX JORGENSEN, #44
Stockton, California
Born June 29, 1954

After carving his reputation as the leader of the "non-Harley" class in Winston racing, former Norton pilot Alex Jorgensen and his sponsor Ron Wood made the switch to H-D power in 1980. A strong start, including runner-up finishes at the Houston TT and the spring San Jose mile, had "Jorgie" in contention for the point lead during the early going, but his momentum failed him in the second half of the campaign and he tumbled to eleventh in the final standings. Nonetheless, that equalled his best Winston finish ever, recorded in 1978. Jorgensen, who split with Wood following the 1980 campaign, owns two career National victories, one on the Ascot half-mile and the other on the Ascot TT track, both in 1978. He has thus far been unsuccessful in mastering the slippery grooves of the eastern half-miles, and that factor more than any other has stood between him and a top 10 Winston finish.

MIKE KIDD, #72
Boyd, Texas
Born July 20, 1953

In the two years that Mike Kidd had the backing of the U.S. Army, he claimed back-to-back fifth-place finishes in the Winston standings and established himself as a genuine threat for Number One. His versatility improves with each season, and a first-ever TT victory in 1980 increased his career National win total to 10. His Army program ended at the close of the '80 campaign, and Kidd has rejoined former sponsor Mert Lawwill, Number One in 1969, in a unique racing program featuring engines from the Yamaha factory and sponsorship from twice Grand National and three-time World Champion Kenny Roberts. Kidd will be the primary Yamaha threat to Number One, campaigning a stable of untried Japanese vee-twins along with a brace of proven Yamaha TT and short track equipment. In contention for the championship early last year, Kidd's hopes were cut down by a series of six straight mechanical failures at mid-year. With the right support from Lawwill, Roberts and company, he could have a shot at the title in 1980.

BILLY LABRIE, #10
St. Petersburg, Florida
Born December 25, 1954

The emergence of Billy Labrie as a two-time Winston Pro Series race winner in 1980 came as a surprise to many, though the Florida veteran has paid significant dues in two-wheeled competition. Labrie began his career as a road racer, and his biggest victory was the Regional Championship event at Pocono, Pennsylvania, in 1974. Prior to that, the soft-spoken father of two had claimed AMA Amateur National titles in road racing and short track competition back in 1969. Following the Pocono success Labrie's career stalled, and he began to focus increasing attention on dirt track competition. Consistency earned him the 1979 Eastern Regional Championship in the Expert class, and in 1980 he emerged as a power in Winston Pro Series competition by winning two half-mile Nationals at Ascot Park and one at Columbus, Ohio, and finishing the season sixth-ranked in the final standings. Labrie will be one of a handful of riders in 1981 who will contest both road and dirt events, and that could give him a big advantage in the chase for 1981 points.

EDDIE LAWSON, #21
Ontario, California
Born March 11, 1958

Versatility remains the key to the motorcycle racing success of Eddie Lawson, who made the very best of a factory Kawasaki road racing contract in 1980. Lawson got his start in the AMA dirt battles, gamely campaigning the last of Shell Thuet's legendary Yamahas to dirt track Rookie-of-the-Year honors in 1978. Nobody paid much attention, but along the way Eddie also kept his hand in at road racing. In '79, with Thuet gone from the dirt scene, Lawson focused on pavement competition, finishing second in the U.S. Road Race Championship 250cc division. His efforts brought a Kawasaki contract for 1980 Superbike racing, and that threw him into the thick of a brutal factory war from which he emerged the third-ranked rider. He also straddled a 250cc Kaw and claimed the little bike title. However, Eddie's absence from Formula One, the point-paying class at Winston Pro Series road races, put his National number status in danger, so he took his Superbike to the line in the Pocono Formula One event and came home with third-place money! Lawson will continue to campaign the factory Kawasaki banner in American road racing for 1981.

STEVE MOREHEAD, #42
Findlay, Ohio
Born August 23, 1955

Morehead's projection for 1981 reads precisely the way it did a year ago: "If he ever puts together a full season at full potential they can pack up the Winston point fund and ship it to Findlay, Ohio." The ever-smiling flat-track specialist did it again in 1980, finishing a close runner-up in the first half standings, then plunging to seventh at season's end, largely because of a broken hand suffered in a stock car racing accident. "I'll stick to motorcycles after this," Morehead smiles philosophically in recalling the mishap. The "Findlay Flier" earned his reputation for streaks in 1977 and confirmed it in '78 when he put together late-season charges that dramatically improved his final rankings and served notice of his championship potential. Last year, prior to the car crash, he had reversed the routine, starting strong and leading a lot of observers to conclude that 1980 might be his year. Morehead's early '80 onslaught included his fourth career victory, at Harrington, Delaware.

SCOTT PARKER, #11

Flint, Michigan
Born November 21, 1961

The youngest rider ever to carry an AMA Expert license, Scott Parker worked at broadening his skills in 1980 and was involved in a three-way tie for eighth place in the final standings, up one spot from the ninth-place ranking that earned him Rookie-of-the-Year honors in '79. Winner of a pair of mile track Nationals in his rookie season, Parker added a third career victory last year, claiming the short track at Santa Fe Park near Chicago. Parker's only short-coming is his inexperience in dealing with slick-grooved half-miles, but in the full-throttle arena of any cushion dirt track he is a constant threat. This year Parker adds the engine-building skills of Tex Peel to the long-time support of mentor Rick Toldo and partial support from the Harley-Davidson factory. Co-sponsors Wiseco and Klotz will round out this potent team package.

SCOTT PEARSON, #95

San Jose, California
Born September 30, 1957

Things began to come together last season for Scott Pearson, 15th-ranked in 1978 and '79, as he climbed to a tie for eighth in the 1980 standings. Born in Michigan and raised in California, Pearson migrated to San Jose during the off-season to be close to sponsor Ray Beck, whose bike building skills weigh heavily in predictions that this could be Pearson's year in the Winston Pro Series. Scott missed most of his rookie year due to injuries, so 1981 will in effect be his fourth year on the circuit. Last season he claimed his first National win—the Peoria TT—and he also had the misfortune of crashing away the lead in several other races. Given good equipment and a bit more consistency, 1981 could be Pearson's year.

TERRY POOVEY, #18

Garland, Texas
Born September 16, 1958

A diminutive Texan who has long-since outgrown his reputation as a short track specialist, Terry Poovey repeated in 1980 his 13th-place finish of the previous year. Now in his sixth season, Poovey demonstrated his victory potential early, winning a short track National as a rookie and coming back the following year to place third in the season-opening short track in the Houston Astrodome. His best season to date was '78, when 17 point-paying finishes earned him 12th-place in the standings. In contrast, '79 and '80 have been marked by inconsistent finishes interrupted by occasional wins. "Pooh" claimed two National victories in '79, and his finest hour in 1980 came when he climbed off a sickbed to win the Saturday night first leg of the Indianapolis mile doubleheader.

NICKY RICHICHI, #25

Fresh Meadows, NY
Born February 15, 1956

"Nicky who?" was a common reaction to the news that Nicholas Valentino Richichi had claimed the Rookie-of-the-Year title in 1980 Winston Pro Series racing. Never before in history had a pavement specialist copped the prestigious first-year award, but Richichi did it hands down, on the basis of a series of consistent National road race finishes highlighted by second place at Loudon, New Hampshire. A veteran clubman racer and drag racer whose early career was marked by frequent bike breakage, Richichi says his long range goal includes winning a Grand Prix road race. And while some may doubt that possibility, it should be recalled that no one expected the bachelor motorcycle mechanic from New York City to reign as the Winston Pro Series' most accomplished first-year competitor in 1980 either.

KENNY ROBERTS, #2

Modesto, California
Born December 31, 1951

Though he now focuses on international road racing, 1973 and '74 Grand National Champion Kenny Roberts remains a source of great American interest, especially in 1981 when his efforts will include sponsorship of a Winston Pro Series team. In collaboration with Mert Lawwill, another former Number One, "King Kenny" will lend his name, promotional support and occasional appearances as a rider to a Grand National effort featuring Mike Kidd and rookie Jim Filice. That Roberts still has winning potential as an American racer was demonstrated with ringing clarity in 1980. He won the Houston TT to tie Bart Markel's career win mark of 28, then smashed that record later in the season with a road racing victory at Laguna Seca. Perhaps most exciting of all is the report that the Roberts-Lawwill effort and Kenny's selected American appearances in 1981 are all a prelude to another full-blown assault on Winston's Number One plate in 1982.

GENE ROMERO, #3

San Luis Obispo, California
Born May 22, 1947

Despite his lack of results in 1980, former Grand National Champion Gene Romero will be out to show the youngsters the fast way around in 1981 Winston road races and west coast mile dirt track events. Bike trouble has plagued the veteran "Burrito" over the past two seasons, and he has not tasted the victory champagne since he won the Daytona 200 in 1975. Nonetheless, this 14-year veteran who ranked in the top 10 every season from 1968 through '76 still has the potential to win if his machine is up to the task. Romero has made forays into the world of four-wheeled racing, and certainly there is precedent for former bike champs making it big in the auto world; past Indy 500 winner Joe Leonard was the first AMA Grand National Champion. Romero's career win total stands at 12, and he was Number One in 1970. He has won every type of AMA National except a short track, and is also remembered for the part he played in the famed motorcycling documentary "On Any Sunday."

Goss-Scott Battle Highlights Winston Series

The names at the top were different in 1980 but the excitement of the Winston Pro Series kept motorcycle racing's fans on edge until the last lap of the season's final race.

Randy Goss, the 25-year-old Harley-Davidson factory rider, and veteran Hank Scott, younger brother of former series champion Gary Scott, locked themselves in a season-long battle for the American Motorcyclist Association's most prestigious title. Only when Scott was unable to pass 1979 Winston Pro champion Steve Eklund on that final lap did Goss finally lay claim to his first championship—by a single point.

Not counting what he garnered at individual events, the title was worth $34,000 in bonuses to Goss—$24,000 from Winston cigarettes and an additional $10,000 from Harley-Davidson. It was also a valuable campaign for the Harley factory which had lost the No. 1 plate in '79 to Eklund, the privateer.

The more familiar riders, defending champion Eklund and three-time champion Jay Springsteen, were never a factor in the 1980 point race.

Eklund, the San Jose, Calif., rider who romped to the championship in 1979; failed to notch a single Winston Pro Series point until late spring and had to rely on top-five finishes in the season's final two events to make his first appearance in the top ten.

Springsteen was hampered again by the stomach ailment which had hindered his title chances in '79. His health remained erratic throughout the long campaign and he was never fully able to mount a consistent effort as Goss' Harley teammate.

With both of the sport's most recent champions out of the title picture early, it was Scott who assumed early command of the points race. The former Rookie-of-the-Year managed only a 12th place finish in the two Astrodome events in February but when the Winston Pro riders arrived in California in April, Scott was ready.

Hank picked up 40 Winston Pro points in a hurry with back-to-back wins at Sacramento and San Jose (both Miles) and then tacked on a third victory at Louisville, Ky., (Half-Mile) two weeks later. A runner-up finish at Harrington, Del., assured Scott of the season's "first-half" title and an early Winston bonus of $10,000.

Scott continued to ride well during the second half, winning twice more at DuQuoin, Ill., and Topeka, Kan., giving the Findlay, Ohioan five victories for the year, two more than anyone else on the circuit. Ironically, it was early in the second half that Scott began falling behind someone who wasn't winning at all—Goss.

Indeed, Goss won but once on his way to the 1980 title. But he was the most consistent rider on the tour, finishing in the top five in nine of the season's last 10 dirt-track events. For the year, he had a total of 12 top-five finishes.

The Highland, Mich., native passed Scott for the first time in early August with third and second place finishes, respectively, at Hinsdale and Peoria, Ill. Over the course of the next six weeks, Goss gradually lengthened his Winston Pro lead despite Scott's wins at DuQuoin and Topeka. With three races left, Goss' margin was 16 points.

Amazingly, Goss failed to qualify the following week at Tulsa, Okla. Scott finished second in the half-mile event to completely erase the 16-point deficit. Scott finished second again at San Jose, but this time Goss was in front of him, winning his only race of the year at the tough San Jose Magic Mile. That gave Goss a four-point advantage heading into the season finale at Ascot Park near Los Angeles.

It was a classic confrontation at Ascot, reminiscent of the Springsteen-Eklund battle in 1978. Scott qualified first the night before the showdown, setting a new track record in the process. Goss, meanwhile, qualified 15th and barely managed a transfer to the main event out of his heat race.

But once the main event got started, the two ran neck-and-neck. With just two laps to go, they were still right together in fifth and sixth positions—but in order to make up all four points and win the title, Scott knew he had to beat Goss and two other riders as well. He got by one, but couldn't pass Eklund on the last lap, and Goss won the championship by a single point, 207-to-206.

RACING IS NOT OUR ONLY BUSINESS!

Sure, motorcycle racing is a part of the American Motorcyclist Association, but there's a lot more to the AMA than organized competition.

Since 1924, the AMA has been working to protect the interests of motorcyclists in the United States. A lot has changed during the past 56 years, and motorcycling is facing more problems today than ever before — but the AMA is continuing to work for you. For example, the AMA:

- Halted motorcycle bans in various cities across the country.
- Changed Pennsylvania legislation that would have made enduros and poker runs illegal.
- Stopped Oregon efforts to ban motor racing.
- Halted a California plan to ban two-stroke motorcycles.

These are only a few of the problems the AMA has taken care of while you've been enjoying your motorcycle. But the problems are going to keep coming.

The only way the AMA can continue to protect your interests is with your support. When dealing with government, numbers speak louder than words.

Rider Profiles

RICHARD SCHLACHTER, #48

Old Lyme, Connecticut
Born March 14, 1952

When Rich Schlachter won the 1979 Formula One road racing championship, he did so without a race victory. Consistency was the key to the title for the enthusiastic New Englander, who had shown great potential in regional competition but had not made a name for himself at the National level. If there was any stigma attached to that winless '79 crown, Schlachter erased it completely in 1980. He won back-to-back National road races at Loudon, New Hampshire, and at Road Atlanta, turned in consistent finishes throughout the pavement racing schedule and easily repeated as U.S. Road Racing Champion in the Formula One class. All this is particularly satisfying to Schlachter, given the gamble that made it happen; prior to the 1979 season, he sold a successful contracting business in order to devote his full time, talent and resources to racing. Though he has mounted occasional forays into European racing, Schlachter's priorities are largely domestic, and he will seek a third straight American road racing championship in 1981.

DALE SINGLETON, #30

Dalton, Georgia
Born August 27, 1955

It took five years of hard work, but in March, 1979, Georgia's "pig farmer" Dale Singleton flashed across the stripe to win the prestigious Daytona 200. The victory established Singleton as an American road racing power, and he used it as a springboard for an assault on the international pavement scene. However, the remainder of his '79 campaign was marked by misfortune and injury, and despite a runner-up finish in the '80 200, things did not improve dramatically last year. Big victories on the Continent found many ways to escape Singleton's grasp, so in August the former AMA Novice and Junior class champion returned to the Winston Pro Series event at Pocono. "I wanted to show my fans I could still do it," he said of his Pocono win. The lure of the World Championship will remain a strong one for Singleton, who also has the option of contending for domestic road racing honors when and if he chooses to do so.

GARY SCOTT, #5

Springfield, Ohio
Born January 19, 1952

Though slowed through a portion of the 1980 season by a blood sugar problem not unlike that which disabled his rival Jay Springsteen, still Gary Scott turned in his best Winston Pro Series campaign since 1977, when he was third-ranked. The 1975 National Champion, whose subsequent split with Harley-Davidson ranks as one of the major motorcycle racing stories of the 70's, failed to win a National en route to a sixth-place ranking in 1979. But he came back in 1980 to claim the Syracuse mile late in the year and finish fourth in the point standings. It was Scott's ninth straight year in the top 10, and in addition to his '75 title, that record also includes runner-up finishes in '72, '73, '74 and '76. Scott is the only rider who has collected money from the R.J. Reynolds point fund every year since the company began sponsoring Grand National racing in 1973.

FREDDIE SPENCER, #19

Shreveport, Louisiana
Born December 20, 1961

One of the most talented and versatile motorcycle racers ever to strap on a helmet, Freddie Spencer will be the Honda factory's primary rider in 1981. As such he will contend for American road racing honors and perhaps launch a full blown assault on the Winston Pro Series title as well. The pivot point in the latter equation will be Honda's ability to field a competitive dirt track machine for the half-mile and mile ovals, where Spencer's skills are untested in National competition. There is, however, little reason to think that "Fast Freddie" will fall short in that category; he has established a pattern of success in any racing venture, and prior to his decision to specialize in road racing, his dirt track feats were fast becoming legendary. Spencer was Novice road racing champion in 1978, Lightweight champ in 1980 and was one of America's top 1980 Superbike competitors as well. He is viewed as a potential world road racing champion, but admits he grew up dreaming of being Number One in Winston racing. Many observers feel Freddie has the potential to make that dream come true.

HANK SCOTT, #14

Findlay, Ohio
Born May 25, 1954

Rebounding from a disappointing 1979 season, Findlay, Ohio's Hank Scott won five Winston Pro Series events in 1980, tops for any rider, and missed the championship by a margin of just one point! In fact, Hank fell a bike length short of passing defending champion Steve Eklund at the checkered flag for the runner-up spot in the season's finale, and that pass would have given him the championship. But Scott, a born again Christian, is philosophical about the near miss and gratified that he came so close. Given the fact that he had virtually no sponsorship program and was considering retirement at the end of 1979, and given the added hassle of a split with his tuner amid the heat of the 1980 point battle, Scott's performance is remarkable indeed. Rookie-of-the-Year in 1974 and top 10-ranked every season since, Hank is among the most consistent riders on the circuit, and his five wins in 1980 raise his career victory total to 11. Like his older brother, former Grand National Champion Gary Scott, Hank moved to Ohio from Baldwin Park, California.

JAY SPRINGSTEEN, #9

Lapeer, Michigan
Born April 15, 1957

For nearly two years, the dominant story of the Winston Pro Series has been the weekly prognosis regarding Jay Springsteen's health. One of the three or four best dirt track racers in the history of the sport, "Springer" reeled off three consecutive championships—one short of Carroll Resweber's record four straight—and 25 career National wins before he fell victim to a mysterious stomach ailment in 1979. Fighting off trackside nausea and frustrated by the inability of the best doctors to diagnose his problem, Springsteen battled on, eventually settling for second spot in the '79 standings behind Steve Eklund. The 1980 season brought little if any relief, and finally Springer was benched by his employers at Harley-Davidson until a cure could be found. In the end, Jay's problem was diagnosed as an unusual diabetic condition, controllable through strict diet. If Springsteen is healthy—and after two years of frustration, that is a big assumption—he will be in position this year to resume his quest for all the existing records in dirt track motorcycle racing.

Everytime you make the competition look bad, Honda will make you look good.

Win $100 worth of Honda merchandise for every qualified race you win on a Honda XR or XL. Up to five times.

The thrill of victory will be better than ever this year for Honda riders. And easier to attain.

Because now you can qualify for Honda's $100 gift certificate Contingency Program on an XL, as well as an XR.

The rules are simple. After winning a qualified AMA affiliate or New England Trail Riders Association event on any Honda XR or XL go to your local Honda dealership. Fill out the Contingency Program form and send it to American Honda. After verification, American Honda will send you a $100 gift certificate.

Which you can redeem for Hondaline* riding clothes, helmets, gloves or whatever you like. Even hard parts to keep your bike in winning form.

For more specific details, rules, regulations and questions, see your Honda dealer.

His bikes are worth more than ever.
