Team SMI's Steve McLaughlin

“Welcome to the Sacramento Mile”

We at Team SMI are excited to have you be part of the 51st running of the Sacramento Mile – a race which originated in 1914. This event is one of the most historic motorcycle races in the country and the 2016 edition promises to be as competitive as ever with any one of six to 10 riders who have a good shot at taking the coveted winner’s trophy.

From the days of Carroll Resweber, Joe Leonard and Bart Markel to the current crop of AMA Pro Grand National stars like Jared Mees, Bryan Smith and Brad Baker, the lineage of America’s Grand National heroes have always shared the common thread of having competed on the Sacramento Mile.

We have some sensational events scheduled for this year’s race. Besides the exciting GNC1 and GNC2 Nationals, we’ll also enjoy the Clash of the Titans III, between two of the sport’s biggest legends Jay Springsteen and Scott Parker. This is Parker’s first visit back to Sacramento since he retired from racing in 2000.

We’re also happy to host on Sunday a big amateur racing event put on by the legendary Lodi Motorcycle Club.

The Sacramento Mile was a must-see event when I was a young AMA Pro racer. Cal Rayborn tried to get me on the Mile but as a road racer I couldn’t understand racing with no brake lever on the right side of the handlebar. This race is very close to our hearts and we’ll be doing our best to get the word out and improve the fan experience as well as value.

We hope you have a great time at this year’s Sacramento Mile. If you like what you see, tell a friend and invite them to next year’s race.

Sincerely,

Steve McLaughlin

The amateur races will be organized by the famous Lodi Motorcycle Club. The Lodi club is known worldwide for producing some of the biggest names in American racing such as Kenny Roberts, Chris Carr, Fred Merkel, Jimmy Filice and Doug Chandler to name just a few.

Auburn Road is a 3-girl country/pop vocal group from the Sacramento California area that is destined to add their name to the list of successful women that have climbed to the top of the country charts. With influences that range from Avril Lavigne and Pink to Reba McEntire, the Dixie Chicks and Carrie Underwood, the young ladies of Auburn Road - Kristen Brown, Paxton Martin and Alicia Paulson – aspire to someday take their brand of girl powered country to the legendary ‘wooden circle’ at the Grand Ole Opry, past the big city lights of Madison Square Garden and beyond.

Having already managed to work with some of Music Row’s best, including the rhythm section of Jason Aldean’s band (Tully Kennedy, Kurt Allison and Rich Redmond) and mastering engineer Andrew Mendelson (Lady Antebellum, Little Big Town) on their freshman EP titled Fancy, this talented trio is off to a great start.

TEAM SMI WOULD LIKE TO

Scott Parker Talks Sacramento Mile and Clash of the Titans III

Cal Expo to Host AMA Pro Flat Track Event and “Springer vs Parker” on May 21

▶ Scott Parker had some of his most memorable AMA Grand National victories on the legendary Sacramento Mile and on Saturday, May 21, he will return to Cal Expo to take part in the Clash of the Titans III, an exhibition against his former hero and rival and fellow Flint, Michigan native Jay Springsteen. It was Springsteen who won the first two Clash of the Titan events over Chris Carr and is looking for three in a row at this year’s event.

For Parker the return to Sacramento brings back some vivid memories of racing in one of the iconic motorcycle races in America.

“The Sacramento Mile is a very special place for me,” said Parker, who with 13 national wins, has more victories at Cal Expo than any other rider in history. “One that really stands out was in ’85 when I beat Wayne Rainey by a couple of inches. Almost every time I see Wayne he brings up that race. He always says, ‘Why didn’t you let me win that race?’ because Wayne never won on the Mile.

“The other one was in ’88 when I won the last race of the year there and put an end to the question of who the real champion was.”

Parker is referring to a situation at the end of the 1988 AMA Grand National season where Honda factory rider Bubba Shobert had a chance to win the championship had a weight penalty that disqualified him from a race early in the season, been overturned on appeal. The appeal was ultimately denied during the Sacramento race weekend and Parker clinched the championship before the race even started. But Parker didn’t want to win the title that way. He said he wanted to end the season with a victory, proving he would have been the champion regardless of the appeal decision. And he did. Parker dominated that year’s Sacramento Mile season finale over Shobert.

Now Parker returns to Sacramento for the first time since he retired in 1999 and he’s looking forward to racing his friend and former Harley-Davidson factory teammate Jay Springsteen.

“Me and Jay actually got together and had dinner at Hooters the other night and he was talking about how much fun it was going to be for me to come back to Sacramento,” Parker said. “He just kept going on and on about how it was one of the best things he’s ever been a part of, so he’s really got me pumped up. As far as training, I haven’t been on a bike much, but I think after a few laps it will all come back to me, after all that’s what I did for 30 years.”

Parker concluded by saying the thing he was most looking forward to was getting back to see the fans.

“Sacramento always had some of the greatest fans in the series,” he said. “And I’m looking forward to seeing again all the great people who cheered me on back in my racing days. It should be a blast.”
